

Under the guise of protecting Joann from being upset by her family and friend's Facebook posts the always honest Dennis Kloss saw fit to destroy his sister's intellectual property by removing them all from her account. These acts were accomplished by his accessing her account without her knowledge or her permission.

Anyone can plainly see below, that just as Dennis claimed, these posts must have been extremely upsetting to Joann. Since he was not allowing any other form of communication with her why would he allow such disturbing material to reach her through her social media account?

Hi Joann,

We have been sending as much love, and prayers your way as possible. Little Kiley made you a card (with a little help from mom and dad haha!) with a "big hug" inside she can't wait to send to you, it is really cute and she is super excited to send it to you. We will put in the mail and send it your way whenever you say it's okay. Stay strong, we all love you, and know you are going to pull through this tough time.

The true motivation behind his hijacking of her account can easily be observed in these two images. Dennis was recruiting hand chosen “new friends” for her. People she likely did not even know or particularly thought about in the heat of her life and death battle. It is no mere coincidence that these “new friends” then began to immediately post to her page attempting to disparage anyone who happened to have questioned his misguided, negligent, and belated actions that had a negative effect on her odds of recovery.

DENNIS IS LOGGED INTO JO'S ACCOUNT AND IMPERSONATING HER

All of Joann's friends & fans need to read this. There is no way Joann would approve of the harassment of her family. Please do what you can to stop this madness on behalf of Joann. We are kept busy caring for our dear Joann and we cannot waste valuable resources (in both time and money) that would otherwise be used to help Joann through this crisis.
